Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 07 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Very cold, snow in places.

Today:
Very cold for all with biting northeasterly winds. Persistent snow affecting parts of southeast England, especially East Anglia and Kent where large accumulations are likely. Sunny spells elsewhere but also snow showers, mainly in the northeast.

Tonight:
Further persistent snow across southeast England, whilst snow showers continue in the northeast, with further accumulations. A sharp, penetrating frost for all.

Monday:
Very cold and windy with snow showers, heaviest in the east and northeast with significant accumulations in places. Sunniest across western parts.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Very cold with a significant wind chill. Snow showers feeding inland from eastern coasts. Potential for cloudier conditions bringing snow to parts of the west or southwest on Thursday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.